GENERAL CONTEXT

Short description of the practice (origin, location, starting date, total of trainees trained...)

Organization in charge of the implementation (name, status, location...)

Target group (age, gender, status of the trainees/youth...)?

“Osons ici et maintenant” is an association created in 2011 by two senior executives in the field of social and solidarity economy. They went to Quebec (Canada) to learn more collaborative and inclusive ways of working practices. At their return, they decided to spread their knowledge through the association. In 2015, they started the training program called “Katapult social entrepreneurship” aiming to help people to develop their social projects/company. The first year, they helped 10 projects to start.

The training takes place in Bègles, a city nearby Bordeaux, and lasts 6 months.

There are 2 sessions per year. One starting in October, and one starting in January.

During the first 3 months, there are 12 group sessions that can be short or long, then the last 3 months are used for the following up of their project.

The main targets are youngsters, but they won't refuse older people, if they agree with their project.

The objective of the training is to answer two questions:

- Do I have what it takes to be an entrepreneur?
- Is my project doable?
